millet and sorghum are extremely important crops in many developing nations and because of the ability of many of them to thrive in low moisture situations they represent some exciting opportunities for further development to address the continuing and increasing impact of global temperature increase on the sustainability of the world's food crops. The main focus of this thorough new book is the potential for crop improvement through new and traditional methods with the book's main chapters covering the following crops: sorghum, pearl millet, finger millet, foxtail millet, proso millet, little millet, barnyard millet, kodo millet, tef, and fonio. Further chapters cover pests and diseases, nutritional and industrial importance, novel tools for improvement, and seed systems in millets. Millets and sorghum provides full and comprehensive coverage of these crucially important crops, their biology, world status, and potential for improvement and is an essential purchase for crop and plant scientists and food scientists and technologists throughout the developed and developing world. All libraries in universities and research establishments where biological and agricultural sciences are studied and taught should have copies of this important book on their shelves.

The North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) is the standard used by federal statistical agencies in classifying business establishments for the purpose of collecting, analyzing, and publishing statistical data related to the U.S. business economy. It is a joint work between the United States, Canada, and Mexico that allows a high level of comparability between the countries. The NAICS officially replaced the SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) system in 1997. The publisher has included the SBA size standards table as an appendix at the back of this book to assist users of the data. Mason Currey is the undisputed master of finding in the messy lives of great artists and thinkers throughout time, deeply human lessons about cultivating meaning in our current age. Cal Newport, New York Times bestselling author of Slow Productivity and Deep Work, daily rituals author Mason Currey weaves together delightful, illuminating stories and reflections about how famous artists, writers, musicians, and filmmakers throughout history have managed to successfully or not support a creative life. Many of us are drawn to a life in the arts but daunted by how to balance that ambition with the very real need to pay rent and put food on the table. It is impossible to become an accomplished painter, composer, or novelist without spending time experimenting, making false starts, absorbing criticism, reading, talking, and moping about the house. All this time must be purchased one way or another is the history of art and ideas. Just a history of rich kids? The answer, of course, is no. William Carlos Williams was a family doctor, Franz Kafka was an insurance man, as were Charles Ives and Wallace Stevens. Grace Hartigan, Taped, James Joyce, mooched off his brother Christopher, Isherwood ingratiated himself with a wealthy uncle, Virginia Woolf and Louisa May Alcott were determined to make their writing pay, no matter what, and their material circumstances had an impact on all of their creative outputs, from family money to jobs to colorful schemes. Mason Currey, author of the acclaimed Daily Rituals, explores both the well-worn and unlikely paths forward for the up-and-coming artist. Making art and making a living is an entertaining and thought-provoking examination of the collision of creative ambitions with real-world necessities and of the messy, glorious, torturous compromises that gifted individuals have patched together when facing the eternal dilemma of an artistic life.
